

DAISY RICKMAN

Daisy Rickman (b.1996) is a multidisciplinary Visual Artist and Independent Musician from Mousehole, Cornwall UK. Performing both solo and with her band, following the success of her self released records 'Donsya a'n Loryow' (2022) & 'Howl' (2024) her live shows have expanded into a celestial space of acoustic psychedelic folklore. Merging these realms of Experimental Drones, Folk, and Psychedelia, her music transmutes something between both an ode to the earth and the cosmos that holds us.

Since beginning to perform live in 2022 she has shared the stage with and supported the likes of Robert Plant, The Brian Jonestown Massacre, Jacqui McShee (Pentangle), Mike Heron (The Incredible String Band), Mark Fry, Bridget St John, Ben Howard, ØXN, One Leg One Eye, Mary Lattimore, Bonnie Prince Billy, Josephine Foster, The New Eves, Junior Brother, Broadside Hacks, Gwenno, Bertrand Burgalat, Emil Nikolaisen, Ryan Van Kriedt, and many more.

"The spirit of the land is something I am continually drawn to within my work and I feel it is one of our wisest teachers. Both my Music & Paintings are an expression of devotion to the landscape and are deeply inspired by Folklore, Divinity and Magic. They are glimpses into the conversations with this spirit and my connection to both the Earth & the Celestial." - DR

Daisy Independently released both of her self produced LP's 'Donsya a'n Loryow' & 'Howl', of which the various represses and special editions have sold over 3K copies worldwide. Approaching a lot of her work with a DIY and experimental process, she records most of her music at home or in her studio in Cornwall. In both these two LP's and her upcoming releases she is playing all of the instruments you can hear and also painted and designed the album artwork.
